CASE STUDY A major US university was looking for a potential third-party supplier to support their global hiring programme in a number of locations worldwide, including Pakistan, India and the UAE; the hires were a combination of local and foreign national workers carrying out a variety of activities. Mauve assisted to provide the following services:

- Evaluation of each worker's individual situation and assessment of the existing local arrangements to determine if the university was using the most financially-viable and compliant model.
- Recommendations for the most appropriate solution within the university's project scope.
- In-country office search to enable the university to establish a local base for their activities.
- Onboarding of workers on to a PEO or employer of record solution as a result of the local assessment – this continues on an ongoing basis, with Mauve employing and payrollling the staff locally while the university retains management of their day-to-day activities.
